CASH-strapped Harlow Council is poised to sell off some of its most popular services under radical new plans to slash overheads ahead of next year's budget.

In a move described as a "fire sale" by opposition councillors, the Conservative-run authority is seeking new partners to take over the running of Harlow Playhouse, Pets' Corner, The Museum of Harlow, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, The Gibberd Gallery, the paddling pools and the Town Park Showground and Bandstand in the biggest shake-up of service provision in decades.

The council could save around £1.3m a year by offloading the discretionary services, which it is not legally obliged to provide. It also plans to set up a 'Big Society fund' to offer financial incentives to prospective partners from the voluntary sector.

The administration has described its plan as the only way to secure the long-term future of each attraction in the face of further public spending cuts.

Joel Charles, portfolio holder for community and citizenship, told the Star the council would be keeping an "open mind" when considering bids from interested parties but would insist on the retention of each service in some form as part of any deal struck.

"The council understands that these are cherished services and we want to do everything we can to ensure their long-term future is secure in the face of unprecedented financial pressures," he said.

"Fundamentally we are looking for innovative and radical proposals from both private and voluntary organisations. Of course we understand that new providers will want to run these services in a different way.

"We are committed to keeping an open mind

Council accused of 'selling off' prized assets

when considering expressions of interest, but we will also stipulate that any deal must include the retention of a given service in some form."

He added: "The wider voluntary, community and business sectors know how to run services efficiently and may be able to access grants and funding at a time when council finances are being scaled back," he added.

But Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson blasted the plans as destructive, arguing the Tories were effectively "putting Harlow up for sale".

"Harlow used to be the envy of so many towns for the equality and variety of the discretionary services it offered but the Tories have once again proved themselves intent on selling off our most prized assets to the highest bidder.

"They seem to want to destroy everything that successive Labour councils have worked so hard to build up in Harlow over the past 40 years – it's absolutely disgraceful.

"They are hiding behind their buzzword of 'Big Society' by inviting voluntary groups to help run these services but thanks to the Tory-led Government most of these groups barely have two pennies to rub together these days, leaving the only realistic outcome for this process to be complete privatisation or complete closure."

Councillor John Strachan, leader of the council's Liberal Democrat group, said: "We all know that money needs to be saved but there are plenty of other ways of doing it without selling off some of the town's most prized assets.

"I can see most, if not all, of these services closing. If the council thinks that other organisations can make them financially viable, why haven't they tried doing it themselves?

"Selling these services off in a quick fire sale is incredibly shortsighted. After all, you only have a fixed number of assets and once they're gone where's the money going to come from then?"

● DELEGATES at a conference taking place on July 22 will be given more detail about the initiative and will be encouraged to make preliminary expressions of interest within a fortnight.

Public vote puts drama group in line for £2k prize

THE director of a Harlow-based performing arts charity said she was "overwhelmed" by the public response to its appeal for votes to reach the final of the 2011 National Lottery Awards.

Razed Roof, an inclusive drama group for people with specific learning disabilities and youngsters from mainstream education, urged residents to show their support by voting for its Inclusion Through Practice project.

The appeal paid off and by the time the deadline closed on June 20 Razed Roof had received enough votes to secure a place in the final later this year and the chance to win £2,000.

The Inclusion Through Practice project used a £10,000 Lottery grant to run workshops for people with severe learning disabilities and put together a specially adapted production of Billy Elliot.

Razed Roof will now go up against three other finalists – MAC Birmingham (Midlands Arts Centre), Northern Ballet and Phoenix Dance Theatre in Leeds and London music project The Smiling Sessions – for the title of the UK's Best Arts Project.

The group's artistic director, Annette Lidster, said she was astounded to have reached the final.

"I really didn't think we'd get through so it is quite incredible," she said. "It was lovely even just being in the semi finals, so to see our members being properly recognised for their hard work and acknowledged for their competence is absolutely fantastic."

She added: "It is also overwhelming just how much the community have rallied for us. It is ultimately all about Harlow.

"We are a community group and Harlow has really supported us which we are extremely grateful for."

The overall winners in each category will be decided by a final round of voting in the autumn.

Harlow MP Rob Halfon said: "It is a tribute to Razed Roof and also to everyone in Harlow who kept the phone lines hot.

"We must all rally together and show our support again by voting for Razed Roof when the lines reopen in September."

Man hurt in screwdriver attack

A MAN was stabbed twice with a screwdriver during an attempted robbery in Harlow.

The 20-year-old victim was walking along a footpath at the back of the playing fields between Sharpecroft and Harberts Road when he was attacked.

He was stabbed and punched in the face by the attacker who tried unsuccessfully to take things from his jacket pocket.

The assailant, who was last seen walking across the playing fields in the direction of the Golden Swift pub, is described as aged 18-25, about 5ft 11ins tall and of skinny build with dark brown or black hair. He was wearing a dark hooded top, blue jeans and a blue and white checked bandana across his face.

The victim was treated at Princess Alexandra Hospital for minor injuries.

Investigation officer PC Jody Greenfield said the attack, which took place between noon and 12.30pm on Friday, June 3, was unprovoked.

"This took place in broad daylight and we are keen to speak with anyone who believes they know who the suspect may be," he said.

Anyone with any information should contact PC Greenfield at Harlow police station on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Work starts on car park

SHOPPERS have been assured it will be business as usual while refurbishment work continues on the Water Gardens car park.

The aim is to create a new parking space on both levels including the installation of modern laser sensor technology to make parking easier.

Centre manager Beryl Murphy said: "The works will be carried out in five stages so availability of spaces will not be compromised during these times."

Body discovered in woodland

Police attended the scene shortly afterwards and set up a cordon around the area as forensics teams worked through the night and the following morning to collect evidence.

The area remained off-limits to the public as the Star went to press yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon.

A police spokesman said the body, which has yet to be identified, appeared to have been in the woodland for "some time" before being discovered. He added that police would be unable to even confirm the gender of the deceased until the post-mortem examination had been carried out.

Cycle team's trek to help street kids

PEDAL POWER: Loretta White is part of a team cycling from London to Cape Town (S)

A FORMER head girl of St Mark's School is preparing for a gruelling 12,000-mile bike ride across the deserts and mountains of Africa to raise £100,000 for street children.

Loretta White (30), her husband Craig (34) and five friends plan to cycle from London to Cape Town, a trek which will see them passing through 30 different countries across Europe, the Middle East and Africa.

Loretta was born and brought up in Harlow and her parents, William and Linda, and brother Michael still live in the town.

The team, who have set up their own charity called Cycle Africa for the event, leave on Sunday, August 7 and expect the journey to take almost a year.

"This adventure is a huge challenge both physically and mentally," said Loretta, a paediatric clinical psychologist at the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford where she currently lives.

"None of us are experienced cyclists but we are committed to raising money and awareness for street children in Africa and are all really excited about getting on with the ride now."

The group, who are working alongside charities Street Action, Retrak and Railway Children and will be visiting projects along the route, say that through Cycle Africa they hope to provide a vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk brighter future for the millions of youngsters struggling to survive on the streets.

"It is about giving these children a second chance," said Loretta. "Through no fault of their own they have fallen on hard times, so hopefully with our help we can get them back into school and into a safe environment."

The ride will be fully funded by the team. However, they are appealing to local businesses for donations of kit to help reduce costs.

The group is also hoping to recruit riders to join them for the first 58 miles of the trip from London to Brighton to raise extra funds for the cause.

"We are hoping to get 100 extra people to join us on the first day," said Loretta. "It is a really nice, pretty ride from London to Brighton and no matter what your fitness anyone can take part."

"It isn't a competitive thing. It is about having fun whilst raising money for a great cause."

For more information about Cycle Africa or to join the team for the London to Brighton bike ride, visit www.cycleafrica.org. To sponsor Loretta or donate equipment, email loretta@cycleafrica.org.

Grant boost for school counsellors

A SCHOOL-based counselling service for children has announced plans to increase its support for parents in Harlow after receiving additional funding.

The Place2Be, a national not-for-profit organisation which recently won the Advice, Support and Advocacy award at The Charity Awards 2011, will have a parent counsellor working in seven of the nine Harlow schools it serves from September.

The new role has been made possible after the group received a grant from the Department of Education.

"This is something we have wanted since we started working in Harlow so it is really great to get the funding to be able to provide this service," said Hub manager James Hawkins.

"Ultimately it will help us to bring a higher level of support to the entire Harlow community. Being a parent is a tough job and when there are issues going on at home it can affect a person's parenting ability."

"Our job is to support those parents which will in turn help the children."

Law firm staff in charity walk

STAFF at a Harlow law firm endured miserable weather conditions to take part in a 10-mile walk raising money for The Brain and Spine Foundation.

The group from Attwaters Solicitors, in West Square, along with colleagues from the firm's Loughton branch, trekked in the rain from Waltham Abbey to Ware in support of the charity which provided valuable help to a colleague who suffered a brain injury.

Attwaters also donated a sum of money to the foundation for every employee who completed the walk.

Partner Joyti Henschie said the spirits of the walkers were not dampened by the torrential downpours they encountered.

"The rain didn't stop anyone's enthusiasm and we all enjoyed a lovely day out in the fresh air and beautiful surroundings of the Lee Valley," she said

"The Brain and Spine Foundation was voted for by our staff as Attwaters' nominated charity for 2011. We will continue to do anything we can do to support their invaluable work through various events throughout the year."

Lottery results

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the weekly St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, June 24 is ticket holder 112278, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 821574 who also lives in Harlow.

Bank trio take a dive to raise thousands for cancer charity

THREE bank workers from the Old Harlow branch of Barclays have taken their fundraising efforts to new heights after completing a team skydive to raise money for people affected by cancer.

Ian Beckwith (37), Susan Bright (53) and Laura Fitzsimons (25) jumped at the chance to freefall from 13,000ft to help pay for a Macmillan pancreatic nurse specialist at Addenbrooke's Hospital, Cambridge.

Joined by 150 supporters at the Sibson Airfield in

Peterborough, the daredevil trio made the event into a full day's fundraiser with a raffle and picnic after the jump.

Branch manager Ian said: "A lot of people at our branch have been affected by cancer so we were keen to do something that made a bold and different statement to help make a big difference."

"The actual skydive was amazing and I am very proud of everybody that took part and appreciative of all those that come to support us. It is a great example of everyone helping together."

As part of the Barclays partnership with Macmillan, the bank has agreed to match all money raised by the skydivers which should bring the total to around the £6,000 mark.

Slimline Kirsty thrilled to take part in national final

A MUM-of-three who transformed her life by losing seven stone won a place in the national finals of a slimming competition.

Three years ago Kirsty Cowland (33), of Rivermill, Harlow, tipped the scales at 16st 6lbs and decided to join her local Slimming World club.

Since then she has lost seven stone through a vigorous healthy eating plan and exercise and now runs her own weekly club at St James Primary School in Paringdon Road.

Earlier this month she was one of the eight finalists in the Consultant Slimmer of the Year 2011 competition.

"Even though I didn't win I was extremely pleased and had a lovely day," she said. "I really wasn't expecting to do so well."

"The fact is my weight loss has had a really positive impact on the entire family. I am now able to get out and play with the kids and I am not only aware of the food I am eating but also importantly of what I am feeding my children."

"It's made a huge difference to our lives."

Schools shut by pensions protest

AT least 14 Harlow schools are expected to be closed today (Thursday) and a further nine have regular teaching schedules disrupted as staff join a national strike over changes to their pensions.

Members of the National Union of Teachers and the Association of Teachers and Lecturers are protesting against new Government proposals which they claim will force them to work for longer and pay more into their pensions for reduced benefits at the end of their careers.

Primary schools that will be shut are Broadfields, The Downs, Hare Street, Henry Moore, St James, Latton Green, Little Parndon, Tany's Dell, Jerounds Junior and both The Spinney and William Martin infant and junior schools.

Of the town's six secondaries, only Burnt Mill will close although Mark Hall will open for new Year Six intakes only.

At the time of going to press, Abbotsweld, Kingsmoor, Longwood, Purford Green and St Luke's primary schools, Passmores secondary and Harlow College confirmed they would remain open despite some staff members

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

joining the industrial action. Milwards School will be open for all but one class.

Murray Sackwild, general secretary of the Harlow and Epping Forest branch of the NUT, said: "Teachers take no pleasure in taking strike action but one day of missed education has to be measured against the potential of years of damaged education if teachers are forced to work until they are 68."

"Teachers across the region have accepted a total pay freeze for two years and the teachers' pension scheme was completely revised in 2007 to make it financially sustainable. But legislation that will force them to pay a lot more for their already expensive pensions, work until they are 68 and receive a lot less when they retire is simply immoral."

But Stephen Castle, Essex County Council's cabinet member for education, said: "It is extremely disappointing that children's education could suffer because of strikes forcing some schools to close," he said.

"This unwarranted course of action is disruptive to parents and children's education."

Diamond couple's claim to TV 'fame'

A COUPLE who appeared on the first episode of the popular television game show Family Fortunes are celebrating their diamond wedding today (Thursday).

Childhood sweethearts David (80) and Barbara Price (79), of Nicholls Field, Harlow, grew up in Wales and got engaged after 17-year-old Barbara refused to allow her husband-to-be to get off a bus until he proposed to her! They were married in 1951 and a couple of years later left Wales to set up home in London's East End where Mr Price worked as an electroplater. They went on to have two children - David and Ann - and now have six grandchildren.

The family moved to Harlow in 1963 when Mr Price got a job with Cossors.

"We have been very happy together and never seem to row at all," he said. "I think it is probably about give and take - I give and Barbara takes!"

"But I always say that I get the last word within three little words - 'yes my dear'."

The family's appearance on Family Fortunes came about after Mrs Price wowed television researchers with her wit during a glamorous grandmother competition at a holiday camp.

"They thought she was so funny that they asked if she would be interested in coming on this new game show hosted by Bob Monkhouse," explained Mr Price.

"We were on the first ever televised show on January 6, 1980 and had a lot of fun, even though we didn't win!"

Pervert who offered young girls cash for sex faces jail sentence

A MAN who followed two young girls around Harlow town centre and offered them cash for sex has been warned he could face a jail sentence.

Musheer Kamram will be sentenced next month after a jury at Chelmsford Crown Court found him guilty of two counts of causing or inciting a child to engage in sexual activity.

Following his conviction it was revealed that Kamram had previously been in court for asking another girl in the town about her sex life.

During the trial the jury was told Kamram had approached the two girls - aged 12 and 13 - and offered them £5 each for sex. The girls ran to a public toilet where they told a cleaner what had happened and security were called.

When Kamram was arrested the following month he was wearing the same clothes as described to police by the girls.

Kamram, who lives in Wembley, denied the charges. He claimed he had not been in Harlow on that day and said it was a case of mistaken identity.

Releasing him on bail pending pre-sentence reports, judge Christopher Ball warned Kamram all options were open, meaning he could be sent to prison when he returns to court on August 1.

Minister to decide fate of 'zone' plan

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

AMBITIOUS plans to turn Harlow into an enterprise zone are one step closer to winning Government backing after making it through to the next round of the selection process.

Last week the Star reported how proposals for the creation of a sprawling 126-acre 'silicon valley' in the heart of the town's industrial area had been submitted to the regional Local Enterprise Partnership for consideration.

On Thursday the partnership, which covers Essex, East Sussex, Kent, Medway, Southend and Thurrock, announced the Harlow bid drawn up by Harlow Council, Essex County Council and private sector-led group West Essex Alliance was one of two to have been selected for further scrutiny.

It will now be passed on to Secretary of State for Local Government, Eric Pickles, for consideration alongside the partnership's preferred bid – Discovery Park in Sandwich, Kent.

According to the judging panel, the Harlow scheme was selected for its focus on supporting small and medium sized businesses in the medical technology and advanced manufacturing sectors, both of which are vital to Harlow's existing economy.

The proposals also won support for clearly demonstrating how thousands of new jobs could be generated across the zone, which would incorporate a 57-acre mixed-use site off London Road and a 69-acre industrial area covering the north-eastern corner of Templefields.

Russell Perrin, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, described the bid's selection as "great news for the town".

He added: "The LEP's decision to put Harlow forward as a second enterprise zone is a huge vote of confidence in Harlow as a business location and an area with fantastic investment potential."

"We are now working hard on extra areas of detail on our application. We're confident that, with the LEP's backing, the Government will see the strength of our application."

Harlow MP Rob Halfon added: "There is still a long way to go but it's great news that the proposals have made it through to the next stage."

"To get this far is testament to Harlow's strengths and to the incredible hard work that has been put into this bid by Harlow Council, Essex County Council and the West Essex Alliance."

"This is what the Localism Bill is all about; genuine communities coming together to fight for a better deal. To reach this stage in the process is proof that Harlow is open for business."

MORE than 100 cyclists braved sweltering conditions to complete a 13.6-mile bike ride around Harlow in support of Princess Alexandra Hospital's premature baby unit.

In temperatures that topped 30C, the riders saddled up for this year's Neonatal Charity Bike Ride which raised over £4,000 for the appeal to redevelop the specialist care unit.

Starting from the hospital's social club and led by members of Cycle Harlow, the riders followed a route around the town before finishing back where they started for a barbecue and raffle.

Cyclists saddle up for neo-natal unit appeal

Organiser Lisa Wilson said: "It was excellent although the heat did take a few victims."

"Of the 110 riders who started, 97 completed the route and so far we have raised £4,150. Once we have collected all the sponsorship money we expect to easily hit our £10,000 target."

"It may just be a small chunk towards the £500,000 NICU Appeal but every bit helps and we are very grateful."

She added: "The event has been so popular that I can already confirm we will be doing it again for the third time, although perhaps with an Olympics theme for 2012!"

Police appeal for witnesses to attack on late night train

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after two women were assaulted on a Harlow-bound train on Saturday night.

The Cambridge to Harlow service had just passed through Bishop's Stortford at around 11pm when the two victims, both in their early 20s, were confronted by two teenage girls.

An altercation broke out during which the two women were assaulted and one had their phone stolen.

The victims called police who were waiting at Harlow Town station and arrested a 17-year-old girl from Harlow on suspicion of assault and theft. She was later released on bail.

A police spokesman said: "We know the train was busy that evening and there may be a number of key witnesses who saw the attack and intervened to help the victims."

WILLIAM MARTIN JUNIOR

There was a creative explosion when pupils from six Harlow schools put together a dazzling stage spectacular for parents and teachers.

As part of the Royal Opera House Creative Partnerships programme, youngsters from the Children's Support Centre, Tanys Dell, William Martin Infant and Junior, Hare Street Primary, Stewards and Burnt Mill performed pieces created during special interactive music and filmmaking workshops.

The project, entitled A to B, was run by specialist creative practitioners who explored the theme of travel and journeys by encouraging the pupils to use video, animation, music and sound to articulate their own personal expeditions.

"This has been a unique opportunity for schools to work together on a project that has brought many communities across Harlow together," said teacher Claire Kearney. "The practitioners enthused and inspired the students and their families and we saw some really fantastic results."

DIZZY DUCKS

Children and staff at the nursery at Harlow Leisurezone got into the groove ahead of the Glastonbury Festival when they held their own special 'Glasto' day.

They dressed in hippy clothing and made their own musical instruments, wrote songs, played in their wellies in a home-made mud pit and ate hot dogs.

The children even performed on a specially-made Pyramid stage for a taste of the big time.

Deputy manager Nikita Rumsey said the day had been absolutely brilliant.

"The kids absolutely loved it," she said. "Fortunately we had great weather so were able to spend the day outside doing lots of creative activities as well as having a nice dance and singsong in the tents."

JEROUNDS JUNIOR

It was a case of midsummer madness at the Pyenest Road school when a troupe of actors performed all 23 of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.

The school invited the local community to enjoy the open-air performance by English touring theatre company the Pantaloons, who tackled each of the tales with a special family-friendly adaptation.

Headteacher Nigel Roberts said: "We were very lucky with the weather and the actors performed exceptionally well."

"The whole evening was fantastic and proved to be a very comprehensible and humorous way for the children to learn about Chaucer's tales. They are still talking about now!"

ABBOTSWELD PRIMARY

Children were treated to bangers and mash followed by fruit crumble when they re-enacted a typical 1960s schoolday as part of the Partridge Road school's 50th anniversary celebrations.

To mark the milestone, the pupils were given various tasks to accomplish, including helping to write a new school song.

They also had to use their imaginations to guess what the school would be like in another 50 years time for a time capsule and helped to create an exhibition in the hall about the school's history.

Headteacher Lesley Lynn said: "It is such a stupendous occasion which was enjoyed by everyone. At the end of the week we had a family fun day which all the parents and governors were invited to.

"A lot of them came here as children so enjoyed telling their stories and reminiscing whilst the children have really enjoyed learning about the history of their school."

Storm in a coffee cup over decision to axe Starbucks

ANGRY shoppers have threatened to boycott Sainsbury's after the supermarket giant announced plans to replace a popular Starbucks coffee shop located inside its Harlow store with an own-brand café.

The American chain's concession in the Fifth Avenue store will close in August after Sainsbury's declined to give the franchise owners the option to renew their contract, putting up to 15 jobs at risk.

A petition against the planned closure started by Starbucks regulars has so far garnered hundreds of signatures, with some

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

customers telling the Star they will now shop elsewhere in protest.

One regular said: "Starbucks is the only decent coffee shop in the whole town and is always very busy."

"Why Sainsbury's want to close it down and replace it with one of their own cafés is beyond me. I suppose they think money is to be made but I for one will be taking my business elsewhere."

Another customer added: "I always stop at Starbucks for a coffee on my way to work; there's nowhere else in town anywhere near as good."

"The reason the coffee shop is always busy is because of the high quality of the products. No-one's going to want to come here when it's a Sainsbury's café."

"The staff here are lovely and it's crazy that they're in danger of losing their jobs when business is booming just because Sainsbury's want to make a few extra bob. I won't be shopping here anymore."

A Sainsbury's spokesman moved to reassure angry customers that Starbucks staff would be offered roles at the new café when it opens later this year.

"We appreciate that some of our customers are disappointed with this decision but we are sure that they will all enjoy the new Sainsbury's café," he added.

"The new café will serve great quality hot and cold food and drink, all at Sainsbury's competitive prices in a friendly, welcoming environment."

A Starbucks spokeswoman thanked the café's regular customers for their support, adding that the firm had no option but to close the coffee shop.

"We're working closely with the store team to redeploy our employees in the area," she added. "We're very grateful for the local support and we hope to be able to return to the town at some point in the future."

MP helps launch a new 'society' for apprentices

HARLOW MP Rob Halfon and the National Union of Students have launched a new apprentice society and discount card to boost the status of skills-based training. Developed with partner employers including GTA England, PERA and Harlow College, the new Apprenticeship Society and its membership card is seen as a skills-based equivalent to the NUS and its Extra card.

The card will give members similar benefits including high street discounts and access to events, while the society will provide a charitable fund to improve the learning experience of apprentices.

Mr Halfon told the Star: "For many months I have worked with the NUS and employers to develop a national society of apprentices, starting with the Apprentice Card."

"The card will finally put apprentices on a level playing-field with students, with the same financial benefits."

Skills minister John Hayes, who helped launch the initiative at a reception at the House of Commons, said the card would tackle a perceived gap in prestige between academic and skills-based qualifications.

Death at rail station

A MAN was killed after being struck by an express train as it passed through Harlow Mill station on Sunday afternoon.

The victim had not been named as the Star went to press but it is believed he was aged 52 and came from Norwich.

A British Transport Police spokeswoman said the incident "was being treated as non-suspicious."

An inquest is due to open at Chelmsford today (Thursday)

Opening night at town's new picture palace

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT may have been a cold and wet summer's day, but there was a warm reception for film fans who turned up to the opening of the Regal Cinema in August 1952.

Hundreds of people smiled and waved through the rain as they queued around the picture palace designed by Harlow's masterplanner Sir Frederick Gibberd and created from a converted warehouse on the Templefields industrial estate.

Although the opening film was the classic Battle of Britain epic Angels One Five, it wasn't the only thing the crowds were eager to see.

For the Regal was no ordinary theatre and this was no ordinary opening. It was the first cinema to be built in Britain since the war and aimed to incorporate everything that came with a triumphant post-war nation.

Fortunately for Harlow residents this included the presence of major British film stars Diane Hart and Guy Middleton who had agreed to give the launch some showbiz glamour.

The pair, who were greeted by MP Gilbert Finlay and cinema manager Mr Blaber, chatted with the excited film fans before conducting official speeches at the front of the 690-seat auditorium.

Ms Hart, who was filming the British comedy Father's Doing Fine at the time, also read out a telegram from The Queen wishing the Harlow

Regal every success before introducing the opening film. Unfortunately the building was only to be a temporary feature of the new town, operating until 1960 when it was replaced by The Odeon which, although now closed, still stands in West Gate.

The original Regal building was converted back into a factory and still goes by the name of the Regal.

To see a special newsreel film about the Harlow Cinema, visit www.britishpathe.com/record.php?id=30226.

MYSTERY PHOTOGRAPHS

THIS week Nostalgia is trying to track down the owner of some lost property.

The items in question are three Polaroid pictures of a newborn baby believed to be called Michael Richard and dated October 6th and 7th, 1988.

Michael Harvey, of Woodcroft, was surprised to discover the baby snaps after they fell from the back of a mirror in an old display cabinet he was taking apart.

"I was breaking down the cabinet as we are getting rid of it when these pictures suddenly dropped out," he said.

"We bought the cabinet from a charity shop in Harlow about four years ago so I would guess that the people in the picture are from around here.

"I just thought that maybe the owners would like to have the pictures back as they probably put them in the cabinet for safe keeping but then forgot all about them!"

Do these photographs belong to you or someone in your family? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

25 years ago

An elderly couple have been told that tiny worms found in their tap water are harmless and that they should not be afraid to drink them. But the couple, who live in Mill Street, say the water has made both them and their pet Chihuahua ill. The have resorted to buying bottled water until the problem is fixed.

The kids from Grange Hill, Kenny Ball and his Jazzmen, cast members from Hi de Hi and the Newtown Neurotics will unite in the fight against drugs with concerts at the Town Park. The Campaign Against Drug Abuse in Harlow is organising the festival for a mix of entertainment and information about the dangers of drugs.

Angry parents and governors at William Martin School have been forced to accept a "second best" solution to the problem of losing their lollipop lady. Harlow Council hopes to erect barriers before the new school year on the pavement outside the school after police said traffic was not heavy enough to warrant a school crossing patrol.

A veteran of rail's steam age

TRAIN enthusiasts who enjoyed reading the Nostalgia articles about the Lord Hurcomb a few weeks ago may be interested to know that one of the locomotive's cousins – the Oliver Cromwell – is due to steam through Harlow on Saturday. Exactly 60 years ago to the day after the introduction of Britannia class locomotives on the Great Eastern line from London to Norwich, the 70013 Oliver Cromwell will haul the special anniversary train from Liverpool Street to Norwich.

It is expected to pass through the town at about 8pm.

Roundabout is a road hazard

SIR, As a motorist I'd like to raise my concerns over the 'hamburger' roundabout in Southern Way which has cost Essex County Council £9.9m to fund at a time when the public sector is going on strike, homeowners are cutting budgets and there are pot holes on nearly every road in Harlow and rest of Britain.

Since the relatively recent completion of the roundabout I have personally witnessed the aftermath of five accidents whilst using the A414 to get into and out of Harlow. Last Tuesday evening there was yet another incident, this time involving three vehicles.

It is something to be thankful for that there seem not to be any fatalities, but under the current system how long can this last?

Although the scheme has been designed to help the flow of traffic in the area, the lack of clear warning signs and the timings of the lights seem to be the main problem.

At the moment, whilst travelling on the A414 into Harlow the lights stop cars in the middle of the roundabout whilst allowing the traffic on Southern Way to go. If you do not react to the lights quickly enough or take a chance on an amber light you run a higher risk than usual of an accident.

With every problem there is a solution and that is where the Star readers can play an important role in campaigning for better signposting on the approach to the roundabout and on the roundabout itself. A review of the timing of the lights is needed to allow cars to leave the roundabout before the next set of lights goes green.

Having spent as much as has been done on this project, the county council can surely invest a little time to ensure that the roundabout is safe.

Why I cycle in the bus lanes

SIR, Recently the Star published two letters in one week about cycling which, despite the gentle moans that they contained, must be a good sign. All publicity is good publicity we are told.

I would agree with Graham Perry about the disjointed nature of the cycle track along Southern Way and I can assure him that cycling groups in Harlow did press for a complete link. In the end it was budget constraints that prevented the obvious solution.

However, the county council has rebuilt the bridge way from Tye Green to Barnmead which is a useful link to Southern Way and the cycle network.

The correspondent who complains that cyclists are permitted to ride in the bus lane on First Avenue echoed my own initial thoughts on the subject when the design was first shown to me. I told the highway engineers that I thought it a bad idea and that they did it to save money by not having to provide a dedicated cycle track.

Subsequently they revised the design, found more money and built a continuous, if twisty, cycle track from the town centre to Mark Hall School. Despite this I cycle in the bus/taxi/motorcycle/cycle lane regularly without any apparent problem – no hooting from frustrated drivers – so I conclude that my concerns about the design were unfounded.

I suggest your correspondent reserves his ire for those adults who ride bikes on the footway, which is both illegal and dangerous. After all, cyclists have enjoyed the freedom of the highway for much longer than motorists.

He should also be far more concerned about drivers with no licence, no insurance and no MOT as they are far more likely to cause death or injury than any errant cyclist.

Finally, he might like to know that all members of the Cyclists Touring Club have third party insurance as part of their membership deal.

John Curry, secretary, Stort Valley CTC
Old Orchard, Harlow

The case for using lower case

SIR, Don Hoskyn confuses capitalisation with grammar and spelling (Letters, July 23)

The 'harlow times' and 'harlow leisurezone' are not misspelt, nor are they bad grammar. The lower case is simply a device used by designers to make logos and other headlines more interesting

If you look into Harlow Times or read Leisurezone's handouts you will find these names are capitalised.

There are many worse uses of English in everyday speech and writing. At the moment I'm particularly irritated with 'bored of' instead of 'bored by' or 'bored with'.

But that's just me being pedantic (or if you really want to be picky, 'just I').

Barbara Burge
Seeleys, Old Harlow

We all need a place to live

SIR, I am an eco warrior environmentalist who cycles everywhere, does not own a car and adores the green countryside we have in Harlow. However, I am also waiting to be housed by Harlow council and have been on the list for a few years.

I find it a disgrace that housing is a concern in this town.

Charity is having to pay the penalty for parking restrictions

SIR, On behalf of the Stort Valley branch of the RSPCA I would like to complain about the rigid parking restrictions at The Stow.

We have purchased three parking permits for the three volunteers who cover the clinic the most. We also pay the parking costs of the rest of the volunteers which pulls money away from our prime objective of helping animals.

On top of this, our branch has had to cover the cost of parking fines which are due to the stringent loading/unloading restrictions at the back of our premises.

Sainsbury's kindly allow us to have a pet food collection box in their store. This is emptied on a weekly basis and we usually collect two large trays of food which is stored at our clinic. As this food is heavy we need to stop for a few minutes to unload the food from a car. Big lorries unload in the bay reserved for our permit cars and nothing is said, rightly so, as The Stow is a commercial area and they have to unload goods to the shops.

One day last month I received a call from a member of the public who had found a stray kitten in a box near some bins in Old Harlow. I asked her to bring the kitten into the clinic and then contacted our fosterer. This lady and her daughter work tirelessly, free of charge, to look after more than 15 cats and kittens.

When they arrived to pick up the kitten she parked in the car park with the free one-hour ticket. We checked the kitten over and when our fosterer was ready to leave she went to get her car to load some cat food into the back. She was there no more than four minutes and received a ticket.

I wrote to see if the fine could be waived as it was unrealistic to expect women to carry heavy trays of cat food but I was told that would not happen. It was suggested I put the food into smaller loads, but this would entail using plastic bags which are not environmentally friendly instead of cardboard trays which are recyclable.

David Cameron wants a big society with people volunteering their time. This we are achieving but we cannot expect it to cost people parking fines and so our branch funds have to cover it.

We provide a valuable service to the local community. Every year we see around 1,500 animals whose owners are either pensioners or are on a low income. We also assist the council in dealing with abandoned animals or animals left after eviction from council properties. Sooner or later we will have had enough and shut down which would be a great shame for our clients.

Marion Wellsman, treasurer
RSPCA Stort Valley branch
The Stow, Harlow

We simply cannot house all the people on the waiting list. I have been waiting for a few years now and am not getting any luck; this is an outrage as we all deserve somewhere to live.

If I was fortunate enough to be wealthy I wouldn't be wishing to be housed, but in life circumstances don't always work out like you wish.

People who oppose housing developments such as Gilden Way possibly have never experienced homelessness or poverty and own their own homes. Not everyone is fortunate enough so we need more housing in this town.

I'm afraid my basic human needs have to overcome the fact that some green areas have to be made into affordable homes for the less fortunate.

Clare Harrison
Katherines, Harlow

Rubbish bin was overflowing

SIR, Last Monday I walked my dogs up Station Road, Old Harlow, and as I did so I was carrying a bag to pick up rubbish.

I left this bag at the side of the council bin outside Barelays Bank. On Saturday I walked the same way again, picking up rubbish along Station Road, and had another full bag, only to find that the first bag was still where I had left it.

Not only that but the council bin was full and overflowing. I am doing my bit picking up litter but when is the council going to do its bit? Or have I got to empty the bins as well?

It's cheaper to go by cab

SIR, I would just like to congratulate our local bus companies for helping me make my mind up over whether I should use them or not.

I am a car driver and I am always reading in the papers and various other places how we should be getting rid of our cars and using the local buses. Five weeks ago I had to have an operation which meant I was not allowed to drive for a while so I and my family have had to use them.

At a cost of £2.40 return, it is cheaper for us to use a cab which takes us door to door. And as they have cut one bus out at Staple Tye I wouldn't have to wait the 40 minutes I did on a Saturday and then be treated like cattle.

Roll on when I am off my crutches and can use my car again. But for the time being I will stay off the bus and use the local cab company.

Youngsters shine at awards night

SPOTLIGHTS at The Playhouse theatre shone brightly on a group of 79 young people from schools throughout Harlow when they were presented with Jack Petchey Achievement Awards at a glittering ceremony on Wednesday.

The students, who all received medallions and framed certificates, had been nominated by their peers, teachers and leaders.

The schools attended by each winner have already received cheques for £200 from the Jack Petchey Foundation.

During the evening there were presentations of Leader Awards to nine adults in recognition of the outstanding way they demonstrated their ability to motivate young people. They also received medallions and framed certificates.

Among those receiving awards were:

● Toby Green (14), who set up an anti-bullying online discussion forum at Passmores School in support of Anti-Bullying Week and for his ongoing work on the school council.

● Hayden Davison (14), from Burnt Mill School, whose quick-thinking and action saved the life of a friend.

● David Beaumont (16), from Harlow Fields School & College, for successfully travelling to school independently on public transport.

● Nishall Garala (14), from St Mark's School. Nishall is a member of Harlow Youth Council and runs a lunchtime drop-in clinic in school three times a week to give students the chance to voice their opinions and concerns about the town.

Guests attending the presentation evening included Harlow Council chairman Mike Garnett, head of community and customer services Lynn Seward and Inspector Andy Bray of Harlow Police.

Afterwards, Cllr Garnett said: "It was a fabulous evening. The Jack Petchey Awards give hope to every child in Harlow that they too can 'do it'."

"They are open to and awarded to all secondary schools and college students who go beyond themselves and help others to achieve what they perhaps thought they could not.

"The smiles on their faces as they received their awards, and the knowledge they had achieved something they did not believe they could, proved that Harlow has hope in abundance and ambition in plenty."

of helping to develop the potential of young people aged 11-25 in Essex and London.

Mr Petchey (85) said: "I am very proud of our awards scheme because it sums up exactly what the foundation is doing – making a difference to young people whatever their circumstances."

ART COUP: Artist John W. Mills, right, with Harlow Council chairman Mike Garnett and MP Robert Halfon at the opening night of his new exhibition at the Gibberd Gallery

New exhibition demonstrates town's reputation as a champion of the arts

MORE than 150 art lovers gathered at the Gibberd Gallery for the opening night of a new exhibition by internationally renowned sculptor John W. Mills. The collection of pieces on show at Harlow Civic Centre is the artist's first retrospective in 40 years and brings together works from the late 1940s to the present day.

Mills is best known for his London Blitz memorial and monument to the Women of World War II at the Cenotaph. But his work also reflects popular culture, with the Harlow exhibition including a sculpture of Queen guitarist Brian May playing on the roof of Buckingham Palace at the Queen's Golden Jubilee. Harlow Council chairman Mike Garnett said the exhibition was an artistic coup for Harlow, adding: "We have a first class venue in the Gibberd Gallery and the prestige of this show demonstrates that Harlow really is a leading arts venue in the east of England."

The exhibition runs until October 2011. Mills will be giving a series of talks on sculpture and drawing to support the Gallery's programme of late-night openings on July 21, August 24 and September 22.

Co-owner of funeral home 'honoured' to receive a customer service award

WELL DONE: Patrick, Jerome and Elizabeth Masterson of the Masterson Funeral Home in Old Harlow receive a customer care award from Graham Williams, right, managing director of Funeral Planning Services, at the National Funeral Exhibition in Coventry

THE service provided by a funeral firm in Old Harlow has gained it a customer care award from a company specialising in the administration of pre-payment funeral plans.

Masterson Funeral Home, in Station Road, received a 100 per cent satisfaction rating from clients who had purchased a pre-payment plan.

According to the results of the survey carried out by Funeral Planning Services, all of Masterson's clients said they were "very satisfied" with the service they received.

Co-owner and funeral director Jerome Masterson said: "It is obviously a big boost for us to know that we are getting things right and without a doubt is due to the fantastic team we have here. "It is an honour to be noticed and a huge privilege to have received such an award."

Graham Williams, managing director of Funeral Planning Services, added: "Funeral directors provide a very personal service but don't always get the recognition they deserve. "We have worked with Masterson Funeral Home since 2008 and we are delighted that they won this award."

Breaking up need not be so hard to do - if you plan

ADVERTISEMENT FEATURE

WITH just a few weeks to go until the schools break up for the long summer holiday, are you looking forward to it or in a blind panic at the thought of the long weeks stretching ahead while you attempt to take on the role of chief entertainment officer for the little darlings?

If you think back to your own summer holidays the chances are you will remember languorous days of simple pleasures and delightful adventures with glorious weather. The fact that we're probably suffering from false memory syndrome and the majority of us were probably bored rigid most of the time doesn't matter; it's just the thought of matching memories anywhere near that idyll feels like a burden to most parents today.

So what if you don't happen to live in an Enid Blyton-esque environment where children can roam the countryside like the Famous Five day after day, discovering treasure and surviving on ginger beer and cake from dawn until dusk? What are your plans for the kids this summer?

The clue is in the question. Plan, plan and plan again! Two-thirds of parents admit that it's difficult to entertain children during the summer holidays, despite a plethora of toys, games and activities at their disposal.

But tempting though it may be, try not to rely on modern technologies such as computer games and DVDs as virtual babysitters. Entertaining the kids over the summer holidays doesn't have to break your patience, or the bank, but with a little organisation you can create holidays that will evoke delightful memories for years to come.

In the Herts and Essex area we're lucky enough to be blessed with a wealth of fabulous venues and events to entertain the youngsters. Pick your venue wisely and you'll enjoy it as much as they will!

How about a picnic at a local beauty spot? Hatfield Forest, the Lee Valley Park and Harlow Town Park are just some examples of top venues with plenty to do and see for all ages. Or how about using the time ahead to learn or improve a skill? Some tennis coaching, swimming or cricket lessons might appeal to the sporty kids, or how about some cookery lessons or a fun language course for those you prefer a more sedate occupation?

Visiting a stately home or museum can provide a fascinating history lesson and many places have special events arranged for the school summer holidays. Venues such as Audley End, Hatfield House, The Henry Moore Foundation and Knebworth are on our doorstep and provide a wealth of inspiration for days out.

The simplest treats can often be the best but plan ahead and you won't hear the cry of "I'm bored" once!

Walk boosts disability group's holiday fund

MEMBERS of a disability group took another step towards raising the money they need for a club holiday when they completed a sponsored walk.

The group for young adults, which was recently relaunched under the name Mike's Den Harlow Phab, walked for half-an-hour around Bush Fair and raised £235 for their holiday fund.

Some of the money will also go towards the running costs for the club.

Spokesman Neil Crouch said he was very proud of the group.

"They all did really well both with their sponsorships and with completing the walk," he said. "We are hoping that through little events like this we can raise enough money to take all the group off on a holiday together early next year. It is really great for them to bond through such activities."

The group, which meets every Wednesday and Friday at St Stephen's Church Hall in Bush Fair, are looking for new members and volunteers. For more details, call Neil on 07757 159558.

HEALTH CHECK

in partnership with the PAH NHS Trust

Keep an eye out for early signs of health problems

DID you know that 1.8 million people in the UK are living with sight loss? Yet for more than half of them a simple sight test and new spectacles could really help.

It's easy to neglect your eyes because they rarely hurt when there is a problem. Having an eye test won't only tell you if you need new glasses or a change of prescription, it is also an important eye health check.

It can spot many general health problems and early signs of eye conditions before you're even aware of any symptoms. And many of them can be treated if found early enough.

Anyone can develop sight problems but some people have a higher risk of eye disease. It's especially important to have regular eye tests if you are:

- above 60 years old.
- from certain ethnic groups. For example, people from African-Caribbean communities are at greater risk of developing glaucoma and diabetes while people from south Asian communities are at a greater risk of developing diabetes.

● from a family with a history of eye disease
Smokers are much more likely to develop age-related macular degeneration (a progressive disease of the retina where the light-sensing cells in the central area of vision – the macula – stop working) and cataracts compared to non-smokers.

While it might seem odd that exercise can help the eyes, it can be important. Research shows that exercise may reduce the risk of sight loss which can occur from high blood pressure, diabetes and narrowing or hardening of the arteries.

A healthy balanced diet with a wide variety of fruit and vegetables will benefit your overall health and may help to keep the retina healthy.

Heavy alcohol consumption is associated with an increased risk of early age-related macular degeneration. The recommended daily alcohol limits are three-four units for men and two-three units for women.

Finally, never look at the sun directly even when something exciting is happening, such as an eclipse. Doing so can cause irreversible damage to your eyesight and even lead to blindness. Several studies also suggest that sunlight exposure is a risk factor for cataracts.

For more information on eye health, visit the NHS website at www.nhs.uk.

Why men pay the price for avoiding their GPs

BRITISH men are paying the price for neglecting their health with more than 100,000 premature deaths every year. On average, men go to their GP half as often as women. But it's important to be aware of changes to your health and to see your GP immediately if you notice something that's not right.

>>Testicular cancer This is the most common cancer in men aged 20-35. Nearly 2,000 men are diagnosed with testicular cancer each year in the UK and regular self-examination is recommended.

If you notice a lump or abnormality in your testicles, first see your GP. Most testicular lumps are not cancerous but it is essential to have the abnormality checked.

>>Moles Check moles regularly and be aware of any change in colour or shape or if they start bleeding. Most changes are harmless and are due to a non-cancerous increase of pigment cells in the skin.

See your GP if a mole looks unusual or becomes itchy. It can then be checked and removed if necessary.

>>Feeling depressed If you're depressed you often lose interest in things you used to enjoy. If you've been having feelings of extreme sadness, contact your GP.

Depression is a real illness with real effects on your work, social and family life. Treatment usually involves a combination of self help, talking therapies and drugs.

Depression is more common in women but men are far more likely to commit suicide. This may be because men are more reluctant to seek help.

>>Trouble urinating When the prostate is enlarged it can press on the tube that carries urine from the bladder and make it hard to pass urine. This can be a sign of prostate disease, including cancer.

Prostate cancer is the most common cancer in men in the UK, with more than 30,000 men diagnosed annually.

Other symptoms include pain or burning when you pass urine and frequently waking up in the night to go to the toilet. If you have any of these symptoms, see your GP.

>>Impotence Most men have impotence at some time in their life. See your GP if the problems persist for several weeks.

Generally, lifestyle changes such as losing weight and exercise can correct the problem. Your GP is likely to assess your general health as impotence (erectile dysfunction) can be a sign of more serious conditions such as heart disease, diabetes or high blood pressure.

Penguin that took a wrong turn

A YOUNG penguin has ended up 3,000 kilometres from home after taking a wrong turn while out hunting for food.

In a tale that bears an uncanny resemblance to the 2006 children's film Happy Feet, the penguin swam ashore on New Zealand's Peka-Peka beach after getting lost navigating the icy waters surrounding its Antarctic homeland.

Local woman Christine Wilton was the first to spot the unexpected visitor while out walking her dog along the coastline.

"It was like someone had dropped it out of the sky," she told reporters. "It was this glistening white thing standing up on the sand and I thought I was seeing things."

It is the first official sighting of an Emperor penguin in New Zealand for more than 44 years and once news got out hundreds of people flocked to the beach to catch a glimpse of the flightless bird.

It appears to be well-fed and in good health despite its month-long journey - although it seems to have mistaken the wet sand for snow, which penguins will eat as a source of water.

Experts believe the penguin, which is around 10 months old and 80cm tall, may have got lost while out hunting for squid and krill.

Emperor penguins can spend months at a time in the sea, only coming ashore to molt or rest, so the bird is in no immediate danger.

However, it will eventually have to make its own way back to Antarctica when summer arrives as it will become too hot for the penguin to survive.

Players looking east at a time of turmoil

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

AS the dust begins to settle following the Arab spring, Moot House Players' provocative new production promises to provide timely comment on the political upheaval currently sweeping through the Middle East.

Opening at Moot Hall in The Stow next Thursday (July 7), The Booty (El Butin) is a powerful two-act play written around 15 years ago by Algerian exiles Hamida ait el Hadj and Farid Benour, partly as a dark satire on the oppressive Algerian Family Code.

Eloquently reflecting the trials and tribulations of women squeezed between extremists and a controlling government, the play skillfully weaves flashes of humour into the disturbing story of an elective mute – the Booty (ie, the plunder, treasure or spoils of war) – living with her mother as the last survivors of a butchered family.

MHP chairman Geoff Leeds, who takes the role of the sinister government spokesman, said: "We're reviving the play now because it's even more pertinent to world events than it was when we first presented it 12 years ago at the Victoria Hall prior to a tour of New South Wales.

"Those who saw it then will find a different play now – dark, intense, satirical and, frankly, a bit terrifying. This show is rapidly developing into a first class piece of serious theatre."

Claire Quley plays 'the booty', young Ghanima who has become an elective mute following her terrifying ordeal at the hands of government agents, while Monica Albinson takes on the role of her downtrodden, widowed mother Khedouma.

The pair's feisty and rebellious friend Sonia is played by Bridget McAlpine and MHP stalwarts David Albinson, Rosalind Baron, Michael Caswell and Dan Powell also feature in key roles.

Adapted and directed by Michael Branwell, The Booty will be run for three nights. Performances start at 8pm, and tickets cost £8 (concessions £6) from the box office on (01279) 639170.

A taste of Edinburgh in Square's comedy double bill

TONY LAW

EDINBURGH is an awfully long way to travel for some top-class entertainment but fear not, The Square is bringing two more of this year's festival stars right to our doorsteps.

Following Susan Murray and Phil Nichol's storming preview shows at the Fourth Avenue earlier this month, compere John Mann returns to Harlow on Sunday with Tony Law and Stephen Carlin in tow.

Canadian comic Tony is enjoying a growing profile in the UK after appearing on prime-time programmes including Russell Howard's Good News.

His laconic, surreal approach and nonsensical vignettes, which touch on such esoteric subjects as the best way to set up a fight between a bear and a shark, have won praise from fans and critics alike. He'll be giving a sneak peak of highlights from his new set Go Mr Tony Go.

Support act Stephen Carlin, who comes to The Square fresh from supporting the legendary Stewart Lee, kicked off his stand-up career in 2002 and has gone from strength to strength ever since.

As well as touring with big comedy names, he's performed two self-penned shows at the Edinburgh Fringe and written for major radio programmes like BBC Radio 4's The News Quiz. As ever, the proceedings will be overseen by John Mann who'll be giving away some of the most wonderfully tasteless trinkets known to man in his infamous half-time tat raffle.

Doors open at 8pm and tickets are £7. There are no advance bookings so arrive early to avoid disappointment.

STEPHEN CARLIN

Battle for Earth rages on as the robot wars return

TRANSFORMERS: DARK OF THE MOON (3D) certificate 12A, 2h34m

MEGAN Fox may have departed the Transformers franchise but the rest of the cast and director Michael Bay return for the explosive third chapter in the Transformers canon – the first of the series to be screened in 3D.

When the original Transformers blasted onto the big screen in 2007, the big budget remake of the 'robots in disguise' was enthusiastically welcomed by audiences.

They flocked in their droves to a ridiculously entertaining, action-packed romp that balanced digital effects with a fairy-tale love story and a touching friendship between a teenager and his robot protector.

In 2009, Transformers: Revenge Of The Fallen fared even better, orchestrating carnage on a grander scale as menacing, power-hungry Megatron led a Decepticon invasion.

So there is a lot of money and expectation riding on the third instalment, Transformers: Dark Of The Moon, which reveals more secrets about the robots and their history with the human race.

In the late 1960s a Cybertronian spacecraft crashes on the Moon, sparking a race between the Americans and the Russians to be the first to reach the satellite and examine the wreckage.

During a TV blackout the crew of Apollo 11 retrieves an important artefact from the spacecraft and returns it to Earth, unaware that more than 40 years later the secrets of the device will spark a titanic battle between the Autobots and the Decepticons for control of Earth.

As usual, Sam Witwicky (Shia LaBeouf) is caught in the eye of the storm, joined by pretty new love interest, Carly (Rosie Huntington-Whiteley).

And while Optimus Prime (voiced by Peter Cullen), Bumblebee and the Autobots risk their lives to protect the humans, field commanders Major Lennox (Josh Duhamel) and USAF Master Sergeant Epps (Tyrese Gibson) lead US military forces in a last-gasp assault on the Decepticons, comprising Megatron and his terrifying menagerie of armour-plated predators.

LARRY CROWNE certificate 12A, 1h38m

INDIVIDUALLY, Tom Hanks and Julia Roberts are two of the most successful actors of their generation.

Hanks is currently the highest-grossing actor in the world while Roberts was reportedly the first actress to command a fee of $20m dollars for a role. Both have won Academy Awards for their performances and both are beloved by audiences for the ability to appear down-to-earth and accessible despite the trappings afforded by Hollywood.

Now the two stars join forces in Larry Crowne, a recession-themed romantic comedy that proves it's never too late to embrace life.

Larry Crowne (Hanks) used to be in the Navy until he secured a job as a team leader at a superstore where the staff adore him for his cheerful, laidback approach. Then the financial bubble bursts and Larry faces the terrifying prospect of redundancy like so many of his friends and neighbours.

Concerned about how he will pay the mortgage, Larry decides to broaden his skills by attending college and he enrolls for a public speaking class. Stumbling into the classroom, he meets feisty teacher Mercedes Tainot (Roberts), who has lost her passion for teaching and is stuck in an unfulfilling marriage to her husband Dean (Bryan Cranston).

Larry is smitten and as he gains the confidence to express himself in public, the former Navy man also gains the courage to tell Mercedes how he feels and to ask her to join him on his haphazard journey of self-discovery.

>>still on screen

Bridesmaids Annie (Kristen Wiig) used to own her own bakery but has now fallen on hard times and works as a jewellery saleswoman. Best friend Lillian (Maya Rudolph) reveals she is getting married and asks a clearly delighted Annie to be maid of honour. Without two dimes to rub together, organising a bridal shower to remember will be tricky for Annie, especially as one of the bridesmaids is socialite wife Helen (Rose Byrne), who splashes the cash as if it is going out of fashion. Fellow bridesmaids Megan (Melissa McCarthy), Becca (Ellie Kemper) and Rita (Wendi McLendon-Covey) witness the fallout as Annie and Helen vie for Lillian's affections.

Green Lantern (3D & 2D) The Green Lanterns maintain peace and justice in the universe using superpowers granted to them by magical rings. When an old adversary called Parallax re-emerges in the Lost Sector, venerated Green Lantern warrior Abin Sur (Temuera Morrison) is fatally wounded and his ring chooses United States Air Force test pilot Hal Jordan (Ryan Reynolds) as a worthy successor. But standing in Hal's way is eccentric scientist Dr Hector Hammond (Peter Sarsgaard), who is exposed to a drop of Parallax's otherworldly powers and mutates into a hideous harbinger of doom.

Bad Teacher Elizabeth Halsey (Cameron Diaz) is a booze-addled wreck who is dumped by her rich boyfriend and reluctantly returns to her teaching job at a high school. Rebuffing the advances of oafish PE master Russell Gettis (Jason Segel), Elizabeth sets her sights on handsome new teacher Scott Delacorte (Justin Timberlake) but he resists her flirtations and begins a tender romance with the school's prim and proper teacher, Amy Squirrel (Lucy Punch). Elizabeth is used to getting her own way and so declares war on Amy.

Kung Fu Panda 2 (3D & 2D) Overweight panda Po (voiced by Jack Black) is living his dream as an all-action bear, honing his skills under the watchful eye of mentor Shifu (Dustin Hoffman). However, he is haunted by fragmented memories which eventually reveal how his father came to be a goose called Mr Ping (James Wong). It transpires that an evil peacock Lord Shen (Gary Oldman) is the cause of Po's deep emotional wounds. Spurred on by a dire warning about pandas from an elderly soothsayer, Shen and his army of snarling wolves are on a collision course with Po. Thankfully, Po can always rely on the Furious Five – Crane (David Cross), Mantis (Seth Rogen), Monkey (Jackie Chan), Tigress (Angelina Jolie) and Viper (Lucy Liu) – to avert disaster.

>>movies for juniors

Megamind Megamind (voiced by Will Ferrell) is separated from his alien parents as a child and crash-lands on Earth where he grows up in the Metro Prison For The Criminally Gifted. But when he destroys his arch rival Metro Man, allowing him and his loyal henchman Minion (David Cross), to take charge of Metro City he soon finds life is empty with no-one to fight.

Yogi Bear Yogi Bear (voiced by Dan Aykroyd) and pal Boo Boo (Justin Timberlake) live in a cave in Jellystone Park from where they mastermind the ingenious thefts of food using spring-loaded picnic tables. But Mayor Brown (Andrew Daly) intends to sell off the park and auction logging rights to the highest bidder. The only way to raise the money and save Jellystone is to throw a 100th anniversary party.

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
 If you're going away on holiday with a friend, a partner or a group of pals, a really savvy thing to do, would be to talk through what everyone's preferences are, before you all leave home. These situations are all about expectations, and if you can get an idea of those you're journeying with, it can help to head off the potential for angst. Call your prediction line for more advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
 Your gift is to use your mind, and no little flexibility and wit. Mars can see you more strident now, and less inclined to beguile, and more likely to get to the point. This may have some up sides, but someone could find you almost too direct - especially in a romantic entanglement. Stranger still, you can fancy someone you don't like. Call me for your love scope in full...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
 Your love life could be very intense, or very combustible. If you like things to be steamy, this week you'll be in your element. If ordinarily you prefer not to rock the boat, you could surprise your partner, and yourself, by showing a lot more spark. It's almost as if you want to challenge yourself, and being more direct can help you to do so. Call me for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
 Anyone who's doubted this is where you're truly inspired, but now you can work harder than ever. But this could see you a little bit critical of those that don't pull their weight, as you see it, as much as they should. However, be cautious, you don't want to be perceived as adopting a holier than thou kind of attitude. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
 Your commitment is often high - well, this is where you're truly inspired, but now you can work harder than ever. But this could see you a little bit critical of those that don't pull their weight, as you see it, as much as they should. However, be cautious, you don't want to be perceived as adopting a holier than thou kind of attitude. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
 Like every person, you have contradictions, in some situations bold, in others more set in your ways. Yet your freedom loving side is coming into conflict with your dutiful one, even if you often love to be the 'giver'. The psychological burden of all this may be creeping up on you more than you realise, or is it just neat resentment Leo? Call now for more astral advice...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
 With Venus and Mars continuing in a funky part of your solar horoscope, the desire to go out and have fun is still high. This may see you head for a club or a disco, and a fine time can be had. Yet this may take you to a district that you're less familiar with, so, it could be wise to be conscious of your surroundings. Once you are, enjoy! Call now for more news and advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
 You can make an excellent impression, but there is a proviso. The extra confidence you have at your disposal needs to be deployed in the right way. Temper any need to dominate situations. Virgo and be conscious that if someone disagrees, it doesn't make them a bad person. With this in mind, be up for a frank exchange of views. Call your special prediction line for more news...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
 Met someone new? You may ponder introducing them to your folks, or someone in the family may hint it's time you did. You're unlikely to want to hurry this and rightly so. For now, if you are enjoying being in the bubble of one another's adoring gazes, all well and good. Settled? A friend may demand your attention, but so can your partner. Tracey Waples
Property Editor

I was approached by a friend last week who was bemoaning the fact that although much is made about the plight facing many first time buyers, there are those at the other end of the scale with problems of their own.

We're all aware how hard it is these days to take that first step onto the housing ladder, but many homeowners on the top few rungs are wondering whether to jump off or stay put.

For owners of big country houses who have lavished years of love and attention on their properties, the decision to sell or stay once they're getting older is a tricky one.

It's understandably a painful decision. You can sell and wave goodbye to what has been your life for as long as you can remember or stay put and risk ending up in a house that is hardly used, very expensive to maintain and crumbling around you.

The upkeep of a large pile can be prohibitive: roofs and windows have to be replaced and the heating bills can read like a small mortgage. It's easy to see how practical options for balancing the books can be clouded by sentimental considerations.

The decision to sell the beloved family home can seesaw between nostalgia and pragmatism, but of course not all owners of large country properties will even consider putting their home on the market. You only have to watch Channel 4's Country House Rescue to see fine examples of cash strapped homeowners desperate for money-making wheezes to save their beloved home.

So yes, living in a property with eight bedrooms, five bathrooms and a garden that takes a team of people to look after may sound like a nice problem to have, but when it comes to the decision about selling the family home, size really doesn't matter.

Local Property Comment

Alan Howick
01279 401902

Your never alone in a jam!

When I say being an estate agent is a '24/7' job, many of my friends scoff at me and expect another porky!

But it's true, never more so than last Sunday afternoon around 6pm. Stuck on the A120, the other side of Dunmow, the biggest jam I been in for ages (traffic that is), miles of stationary vehicles as far as the eye could see and on the hottest day of the year as well!

The only comfort being plenty of cigarettes, petrol and no desperate need to spend a penny!

Sitting quietly and listening to Talk Sport, watching kids playing football on the deserted east lane, a car parks up alongside me, someone shouts out "hello Alan how's the property market going then?" It's a Former Client wanting a brief summary of what's happening to the market and how much is his house worth now he's put in a new kitchen!

That's a first for me, doing a valuation standing in the middle of the A120 'car park' and sharing a cigarette!

And guess what, the client rang me on Monday morning to make an appointment for me to call round tomorrow!

Sports coupe is no lightweight

By Motoring Correspondent

IN the world of motoring you can never have too many Porsches to choose from.

The German firm has been particularly industrious of late, what with special edition 911s and expanding its Panamera line-up. Thankfully it's also found time to bolster its Cayman range.

For some this coupe is viewed as a mini 911, albeit one from a decade or two ago. Its more focused personality has seen it find favour with drivers seeking a back-to-basics experience but with all the electronic and comfort mod cons of today for good measure. The Cayman is also a good bit more affordable than a modern day 911, although the gap does narrow somewhat when you start ticking boxes for the various tempting options.

However, to view the Cayman solely as a cheaper alternative to the great 911 is to miss the point. It's also a fantastic car in its own right.

This notion has been further reinforced by the introduction of an 'R' model. Following on logically from the not too shabby 'S' model, you could say

FACTfile

Porsche Cayman R

from £51,728
on the road

Engine: 3.4-litre petrol unit developing 330bhp
Transmission: 6-speed manual driving the rear wheels
Performance: Top speed 175mph / 0-62mph in 5 secs
Economy: 29.1mpg
CO₂ Rating: 228g/km

the 'R' is aimed at the more demanding and appreciative of the Porsche fan club.

That might appear to be a very narrow section of buyers, but don't forget that 911 GT3, GT3 RS and GT2 variants boast a considerable following despite their niche market positioning. Granted, the Cayman R isn't supposed to be a mini-me GT3, but its specification more than hints at the potential for above-average thrills even in the context of an already quick donor car.

What you get for your money is something quite special. The Cayman R has lost a little bit of weight and gained a few choice improvements under the skin as well as a few extra horsepower.

The Cayman's 3.4-litre flat-six motor now boasts 330 horsepower, which is 10 more than the 'S'. It's already a peach of an engine and while it's in its element being exercised to the maximum, it's also torquey enough to happily trickle through town at low revs.

What makes the Cayman R that bit more special is the detailed suspension tweaks. A slightly lower ride height, camber changes fore and aft plus new anti roll bars, spring and damper modifications and lighter alloy wheels all add up to deliver a sublime experience for the discerning driver.

Factor in the car's already near-flawless steering and the ability to cover ground at a rapid pace while benefiting from the constant stream of feedback through the car's helm and seat is hard to beat. And considering the cornering forces the car can generate, those seats are reassuringly snug and supportive.

It's true that the ride is a little firmer than a regular Cayman but we're not talking GT3 RS firm here. Despite the lower ride height and various other changes, the Cayman R is still a car that can be confidently used every day.

The fabric loop-style door pulls are a nod to the car's weight-saving programme, although the deleted audio and climate control units can easily be added to the car's specification if you so wish.

Elsewhere, the performance is pure Cayman S – and then some. The car's standard-fit six-speed manual gearbox is a short-shifting device that's hard to beat for accuracy and feel. Of course, there's Porsche's optional seven-speed PDK box to consider, which adds an extra ratio to boost economy and refinement at motorway speeds.

It's also darn quick – quicker than you or I – and allows you to keep both hands on the wheel and utilise the chunky steering wheel paddle shifters. The Cayman R might be something of a specialist tool but there's no questioning its abilities. Getting the job done, be it a B-road blast or spirited track day experience, is the name of the game and this particular Cayman delivers thrills in spades.

If you know what you're doing the car will surprise and delight, but never scare, in equal measure. A finely tuned machine for everyday use, the Cayman R is hard to beat at any price.

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Men's team win derby

FEARS of a tough match were put to one side as Harlow Tennis Club defeated Stansted 10 points to 6 at home in an Essex Men's Small Clubs League division two match.

The match was played on the Harlow indoors courts due to rain.

The new Harlow pairing of Richard Baxter and Harry Melliush won their first match 6-1, 6-2 against Jamie Alder and Richard Portway.

Baxter and Melliush overcame the visitors' second pair Richard Mott and Rick Lim 6-3, 6-2.

However, Harlow's Steve Dodd and Paul Pattinson went down 6-3, 6-3 against Mott and Lim.

In their second match Dodd and Pattinson were thrashed 6-0 in the first set and won the second set 7-5 after being 3-0 down.

This win put Harlow back among the leading teams in the division.

Harlow slipped to a 1-5 defeat at leaders Stebbing in the Essex Small Clubs Mixed League.

Harlow pair Steve Dodd and Sarah Shoard lost their first match against Jacob McDowall and Shelagh Chapman 6-4, 6-1 and their second match 6-2 6-3 against Tracy Warren and Tom Sim.

Paul Pattinson and Nicola Barnett lost 6-3, 6-2 to Warren and Sim and then went down narrowly 6-6, 7-5 against Anthony Dynamou and Val Ashwood.

Harlow had beaten Stansted 9-7.

Dodd and Karen Butler secured four points for Harlow. Dynamou and Val Ashwood got three points for the club.

Boss fumes as 2 goalies quit take a break from it and think about whether he wants to continue playing or not.

"We need to look for another keeper. It's one of the most important positions in a football team. We are under no illusions – we are looking for a new goalkeeper. We are looking for someone who stands out. Elliott ticked all the right boxes and we felt our goal-keeping coach Steve Walduck could bring out the best in him. He would have moved onto a higher level.

"We will find the right person for us. We still have eight weeks before the season starts. There is no big rush. There's no crisis."

Apart from a goalkeeper, Chapman does not expect to bring in anyone else now.

The pre-season campaign begins tonight (Thursday) and the Hawks boss faces the tough task of trimming his squad from 26 to 18 over the next fortnight.

have been friends a long time. As well as what he gives us on the pitch, it is also off the pitch and his presence in the changing room that is so important," said Chapman. "It shows the club's intentions by keeping him. Players want to be part of Harlow Town and want to achieve something. They enjoyed it last year and want to come back and get us promoted."

Duo double up at basketball club's awards night

HARRY Patterson and Joshua Duttall will remember this year's Harlow Hawks Basketball Club presentation evening with particular pride.

Harry received the prizes for the most improved player and the players' player of the year for the U-14 Blacks team.

Joshua scooped two prizes for the U-14 Reds team – in the parent player and players' player categories.

Other players' player winners were Elliott Quail (U-11) and Simon Atkinson (seniors first team).

Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz won the first team's most valuable player award.

Offering a frank assessment of a disappointing campaign for the first team in the Herts County League, Niaz said: "Due to the success that Hawks have been accustomed to over the last four or five seasons it has been a tough season in which we were not able to really challenge for any honours.

"The Cup semi-finals [county and league] were the closest that we got to any silverware."

He added: "A few tweaks will need to be made for next season if they wish to be up there challenging for the top spots."

The presentation event was held at The Link in Parsloe Road and attended by more than 140 people.

Other awards winners were: parents player awards - Tom Shaves (U-11); Joshua Haddow (U-14 Blacks); Alex Banjac (U-17).

Most improved player awards - Sadaf Niaz (U-11); Ben Mayclim (U-14 Reds); Stephen Martin (U-17); Hasan Adnan (senior second team).

Senior second team most valuable player - Lee Morris. Senior first team most improved player - Dave Spashett.

Tremendous Tegate two-time top team

TEGATE Kestrels netball team are celebrating another phenomenal season.

The Harlow side were undefeated champions of the Harlow Sportcentre League and also secured the Harlow Sportcentre Cup – for the 11th time!

Stalwart captain Clare Bull, 33, said: "The performances were brilliant this season; we played consistent strong netball in every game defensively and in attack. There was superb shooting from Chrissie Jamieson, Katie Ings and Hollie Simms."

Mid-court saw strong, driving displays and attack from Natalie Hastings and Carly Page.

While in defence Clare, Jaye Middleton Brown and Leanne Weddle proved a solid and strong combination that was hard for any team to break down to win a game.

Clare said: "It was great to win the double, especially at the new sports centre. The court and facilities are brilliant!"

"We as a team have won the division one title 11 times, but the league is getting stronger and stronger each year with new clubs entering the league, so it's getting tougher which is great competition."

Tegate beat rivals Crosskeys in the final of the Harlow Sportcentre Cup this year in one of the closest finals to date.

Tegate also represented the town in the East Region League, alongside Crosskeys.

Clare explained: "We had a slow start to the season with injuries and games that we shouldn't have lost through stupid errors. But each game we grew as a squad coming together with younger players joining the experience of the senior squad."

"We had a strong end to the season and played exceptional netball at times. We ended the season mid-table but look forward to next season to start where we ended this season."

Clare also paid tribute to her mother Carol, the Tegate head coach. "We would like to thank Carol Bull for everything she does, not only for our squad but for every member of Tegate Netball Club. She is truly inspirational."

The new season starts in September.

POINT OF VIEW: Sports Editor Alan Scott is interviewed by Anglia News reporter Lauren Carter (s)

Star man's TV debut!

HARLOW Star Sports Editor Alan Scott was featured on ITV1's Anglia News evening programme as Harlow Town's close neighbours Bishop's Stortford face up to a cash-crippling season in the Conference North.

After Rushden & Diamonds were expelled from the Football Conference 12 days ago, Stortford were moved into the Northern division and face trips to Cumbria, Northumberland and North Wales next term.

Alan, also the Sports Editor of the Bishop's Stortford Observer, was interviewed for a report which highlighted the predicament of the club located just a short distance from London's third airport Stansted!

Alan was filmed at the Observer's office in Stortford when he spoke about the problems of teams in the North of England going bust, which was one of the reasons why the North-South divide was being dragged further south.

Stortford, founder members of the Conference South, were expected to lodge an appeal over the switch, but are now resigned to their fate.

And unless something is done to amend the Football Conference structuring it could well affect Harlow in the future.

Hawks chairman John Barnett's vision is to see Harlow Town playing in the Conference South – or will this be the Conference North?

The report can be viewed at <http://www.itv.com/anglia/north-or-south13816/>

Bauer seals two fifths at GB Masters Champs

DAVE Bauer admitted he was disappointed with his performance in the 45 category at the British Masters Championships at Alexander Stadium, Birmingham, on Saturday.

The Harlow Athletic Club member was 5th in the discus (36.21m) and 5th in the 35 pound weight/heavy hammer (10.06m).

In Sunday's hammer he threw 31.36m for 7th and was also 7th in the shot put (10.04m).

However, considering Bauer's injuries over the last two years, these were exceptional displays.

"As several people pointed out to me, whom I respect, I am expecting too much too soon. I only started throwing again in April due to the adductor tendonitis which I still have," explained Bauer.

"I have lost muscle, strength and confidence in my technique, especially the discus. You just don't get it back in two months."

He was joined by Dawn Jones, also from Harlow.

She won the women's 40 age group high jump with a leap of 1.50m and the triple jump with 9.70m.

Tennant's Vet 60 prize in Stortford 10

JOHN Tennant won the veteran 60 age group prize in a very hot Stortford 10-mile race on Sunday.

Tennant was in 26th place, out of 196 finishers in a superb time of 1 hour, 15 minutes and 30 seconds. He was also quickest Harlow runner on the day.

The tough multi-terrain race was run over a very hilly course.

Tennant was followed home by running club colleagues Pasquale Pelleccia (39th in 1:19.29), Sean Flynn (42nd in 1:20.07) and Alan Cootes (46th in 1:20.51).

First Harlow woman to finish was Claire Russell in 53rd place. She clocked a brilliant personal best time for this distance of 1:21.45.

Other Harlow times were: Martin McColgan 95th 1:30.00; Jon Steadman 104th 1:31.33; Janice Page 123rd 1:34.16; Peter Ayling 141st 1:38.44; David Page 156th 1:42.01; Ron Newton 186th 1:55.48.

Darts World finalists head to dog stadium

DARTS World finalists Simon 'The Wizard' Whitlock and Wayne 'Hawaii five-o' Mardle are appearing at Harlow Greyhound Stadium this Saturday.

The pair will play a series of professional legs, exhibition players – while there will also be a chance for some of the audience to play them live on stage!

Stadium spokesman Mick Godderidge said: "Wayne Mardle is known as one of the best exhibition players on the circuit and Simon is one of the best finishers in the business."

Ladies are promoted

HARLOW Ladies have received a surprise promotion to the RFUW National Challenge South East division one (north).

Despite holding top spot in division two for most of last season, the Rams thought they had missed out when they slipped to third place in the closing weeks, mainly as a result of a large injury list.

However, the RFUW have invited the side to fill a vacant place in division one.

"An advantage is that most of the clubs in this division are within reasonable travelling distance of Harlow whereas in division two they would have faced very long journeys for most away games," said a club spokesman.

Top Matt finish seals Rye House win

PEAR Tree Mead School pupil Matthew Hayden continued his progress on the karting circuit at Rye House by romping to victory in the Honda Cadets class for 8- to 13-year-olds at the Hoddesdon circuit.

The 10-year-old Harlow youngster was one of a number of youngsters at the famous track who are aiming to follow in the footsteps of former F1 World Champion Lewis Hamilton, who began his career as a boy in karting at Rye House.

This Honda Cadets class is the recognised entry level into the world of motor racing.

Running the less complicated 4-stroke engine, Rye House Kart Raceway operates a cadet school to give youngsters tuition and confidence before

Club's haul at British Champs

TWO gold medals and a silver were earned by the Hadri Taekwondo Academy members in the BTCB British Championships.

Five fighters from the Harlow club competed in the B class at the event in Manchester.

Nine-year-old triplets Ilyas, Ismail and Ibrahim Hussain competed.

Ibrahim and Ismail were knocked out in the last eight after winning one contest, but Ilyas won four contests in under a minute to seal a gold medal.

Nadeem Shahiyyar (15), claimed a gold in the dying seconds by just a point.

Usman Ali (19) also reached a final and fought a long, hard battle before claiming silver.

Earlier, the Harlow club's instructor John Smallbone and 3rd dan Luis Gerardo competed in the A class.

Both fighters were matched up against the best in the country and reached the last eight, narrowly losing out on a semi-final place.

Smallbone said: "I'm extremely proud of all the students that have taken part in the competition and the medals that they have won."

The club is based at Burnt Mill School.

Athlete dies at 53

HARLOW Athletic Club is mourning the death of former member Geoff Whaley who tragically died in a car accident.

The funeral of Whaley, who was 53-years-old, was held on Friday in Devon where he was a teacher. Whaley, right, had a best hammer throw of 62.16m set in 1980 as an Under-23 and competed as a Great Britain junior international in 1977.

Prior to this he had won the intermediate boys shot at the English Schools Champs of 1975, when representing Harlow. Harlow Athletic Club veteran Dave Bauer paid tribute to Whaley. He said: "I joined Harlow Athletic Club at the age of 18 in 1984 as a young javelin thrower and remember Geoff competing for Harlow in the hammer, shot and discus, often with Glenn Townsend as the B String thrower for Harlow. "During this period Harlow had a very strong men's team which Geoff was an integral part of. These were in fact halycon days of the club at that time.

"Geoff was a superb thrower and a colossus in the circle. I don't think many people would forget a man of his stature or character, I certainly haven't."

English title for Molly

A GREAT piece of front running earned 10-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member Molly Gardner a second English title in the Year 5 girls 600m at the Independent Schools Association national finals.

A new personal best time of 1 min 54.4 secs was a cool seven seconds improvement.

This performance ranks her No.1 in the UK over 600m for U-11 girls and is a club record.

Molly took the lead with just over 400m to run and came home a worthy champion by over 30 metres.

In an Eastern Young Athletics League meeting, Harlow were 6th.

Results:- U-13 girls - Abbie Campbell A string 100m 14.6s 2nd; A shot put 5.85m 3rd; A 200m 4th 30.3s PB.

U-11 girls - Ellie Williams B 100m 3rd 15.5m; A 70m hurdles 2nd 14.2s PB; A long jump 5th 2.99m.

Jeepers keepers

Boss left fuming as TWO goalies quit

THE Hawks have suffered a huge blow with the news that highly-rated young goalkeeper Elliott Justham has reneged on a verbal agreement to join the club – and instead joined Ryman division one north rivals Brentwood Town.

It comes on the back of custodian James Hasell's decision to take a year's break from football.

It means that Harlow Town will have rookie keeper Michael Dumoulin, so Harlow boss Danny Chapman will step up his hunt for a new stopper over the next fortnight.

Justham (20) was at Redbridge last season.

Chapman said: "I'm really disappointed he's not coming. He evening games it would be difficult for him to get to work on time. I asked him if he was not playing football why has he signed for Brentwood.

"There is hardly any difference between where we are and Brentwood. He's a young lad and he's got a very big future – if he does things properly. I've heard he wasn't sure whether he was going to be No.1 or No.2.

"I assured him he was going to be my No.1 next season. I think whether the club was too big for him, I don't know. We wish him all the best, there are no grudges. It's his decision at the end of the day."

Hasell, meanwhile, was already going to miss the first month of the season as he will be away on holiday.

The former Brentwood and Leyton keeper has temporarily decided to hang up his gloves, said Chapman. "He's going to

Cowley rejects Braintree offer

MIDFIELDER Dave Cowley has turned down an offer from newly-promoted Conference Premier club Braintree Town on improved money to stay at Barrows Farm.

Harlow Town boss Danny Chapman admitted he was delighted the Supporters' Player of the Year, who lives in Harlow, had snubbed the deal to move up three divisions.

He said Cowley wants to stay with his home town club and is convinced the side can win promotion to the Ryman premier division next season. Cowley was one of three first team regulars who have been offered more money to move elsewhere.

Cowley, whose career was turned around by a contract at the Glenn Hoddle Academy in Spain after he was bombed out of West Ham United as a teenager, has become a firm favourite with his skill and flair.

Chapman said: "It says a lot. He was offered the chance to go there on more money which you would expect from a Conference club. He has decided to stay. He enjoyed it here last season."

"He loves the club and he wants to be a part of something successful, as does everyone else – and we will be this year!"

One player leaving Hawks is Danny Brown – but perhaps on the plus side it is NOT skipper and former Leyton Orient player Danny Brown, but the towering centre-half who shared his name and was signed only in February.

"He has work commitments. He is a stockbroker in the City. At times he could not get to training. We have a lot of centre-halves and his opportunities would have been limited next season," explained the Hawks boss. "It was just best that we parted company and we wish him all the best and thank him for all he has done for us."

But Chapman is delighted that the other Danny Brown has confirmed he will stay. Brown, who switched from Conference Premier club Eastbourne in September, impressed in central midfield and at left-back.

He was once the subject of a £50,000 transfer from Orient to Barnet.

Captain rallies troops after first defeat

SKIPPER Luke Heskett has urged his side to bounce straight back after Harlow suffered their first defeat of the season at Southchurch Park on Saturday.

Second-placed Southend-on-Sea closed the gap on leaders Harlow to 17 points with the victory, while Heskett must rally his troops ahead of another tough match against third-placed Walthamstow at Marigolds in two days' time.

"To lose our first league game is disappointing and we need to bounce back on Saturday – a game for which we welcome back [Luke] Monger and [Nino] Calvino, who were sorely missed on Saturday," said Heskett, pictured right.

The seashiders' opening batsmen, Kevin Grant and Numan Khan, put on 75 for the first wicket and it looked as if Harlow could be chasing a big total.

The introduction of Ahmed Khawaja into the attack changed the game as he removed Khan for 45 and proceeded to rip through the hosts' middle order, taking 6-44 in 16 overs.

He was supported by skipper Heskett, who took 3-34 in 12 overs including the wicket of main stay Grant for 70.

Andy McGarry impressed in the field and took four slip catches.

Harlow's batting line-up was weakened by the loss of unavailable duo Monger and Calvino.

The visitors started badly as Southend's Aussie fast bowler Maxwell McNamara took out Harlow's top three of Rehman Ahmed, Haris Afridi and Khawaja all relatively cheaply.

Combined with the loss of Conor Ramsay for 0 and Brian Kulaseena for 10, Harlow were reeling at 47-5.

Matt Nobes (7) and youngster Andre Riddell (40) took the score to 91 and a comeback looked a slight possibility, but any hopes were dashed by Southend spinner John Horne, who removed both in a spell of 8 overs which accrued 3-13.

Heskett was the last man out as Harlow were wiped out for just 105.

McNamara finished with excellent figures of 6-41 from 16.1 overs.

The captain added: "[Ahmed] Khawaja bowled brilliantly. A combination of good bowling and poor shot selection led to our downfall but the performance of young Riddell was a huge positive to take from the game."
